CSO priorities

Djatougbe Aziaka

08/07/2019

- ▶ During CRIC17, CSOs presented 5 priorities, through which they reminded delegates about the real concerns of the people affected by land Degradation and desertification and called upon parties to act in the best interests of the people

5 priorities

1. A stronger recognition of the contributions of community-led initiatives to achieving LDN by policy makers, financial institutions and others
2. Increased land tenure security for communities in general but more specifically of women and young people taking into account UNCCD COP14 decision on the implementation of the VGGTs

3. Strengthening the participation and building capacities of civil society especially women's groups in the decision-making processes on matters related to Land Degradation Neutrality including the setting of targets and in the designing of National Drought Plans so as to guarantee sustainability
4. Ensuring access to appropriate sources of finance for transformative community-based initiatives to achieve LDN and the civil society organizations that support them
5. Transform our society so as to achieve greater sustainability and equity, especially gender equity

The Outcome

Through statements and interventions on the different agenda items the CSOs called upon the Parties to include the recommendations of the CSOs in the CRIC 17 Report and to incorporate the key elements in the decisions to be taken at COP14.

- Based on the excellent team work done by all CSOs which participated in CRIC 17 which in cooperation with country parties allowed all our considerations to be taken within the final document of Conclusions and Recommendations of CRIC 17.
